Alistair Scott (he/him)

Executive Coach, Facilitator & Actor

Alistair specialises in coaching for senior client relationship management, presentations, pitching, personal impact, and public speaking. His clients benefit from his unique combination of professional training as a stage and screen actor, combined with the insights from a 25-year career as a senior investment banker in the UK, Europe, and Asia.

Working with executives (up to and including Chairman and CEO), Alistair helps to improve communication and relationship development skills with both clients and colleagues. He advises on personal brand and franchise building within the corporate world and supports executives to maximise their impact in high-level presentations and pitches. He also advises more generally on client/colleague relationship and career management. He has a particular interest in working with Asian leaders and women in leadership to help them develop their executive presence skills and strategies to Board level. He works extensively in theatre and film, and as a singer and event MC. An adventurous performer with a great sense of humour (and a talent for playing the harmonica!), he brings a strong professional ethos and great personal warmth to his acting and corporate coaching work.

Before moving into full-time acting, Alistair spent more than 2 decades working in the finance industry. He was a Director of corporate finance for a leading UK investment bank engaged on major M&A transactions, IPOs and privatisations around the world. He then joined a major US investment bank as a Managing Director in Hong Kong, working on many of the largest fund-raising in the Asia-Pacific region.

Recent clients include:

Alistair's clients include several Private Equity houses, working on investor presentations, pitches and management exits, and major organisations such as Deutsche Bank; Allianz Global Investors; ANZ Bank; BlackRock Investors; KPMG; Bank of America Merrill Lynch; Hogan Lovells and DLA Piper. He also takes on executive clients for private 1:1 coaching.

Passion, Purpose & Personal

Alistair is an experienced choral singer with one of the UKs leading choirs, singing at the Proms and backing artists ranging from Andrea Bocelli to Take That. He is also Chairman of a charity that funds, designs and builds specially adapted boats for wheelchair users and other disabled people. He also claims to know a lot about wine!
